starts biting or troubling others. The poor dog suffers. It is punished by a law court. The owners of such dogs neither take care of their pets nor attend them personally. Although they claim to be true dog-lovers, they hate training. Have they ever realised that if their dogs had been properly kept and trained, much of the problem would not have arisen? Misalliances, road accidents, contagious diseases and rabies occur owing to the negligence of such owners. Dogs love their homes by nature and if they are affectionately treated, ordinarily they will not go out and wander.

Some different standards of ex world. "Obedience" are the two to different countries uniform set of the world. If knowledge, a universal effort, a universal effort. An international Cynological clubs of many countries to it.

SWAMI LAKSHAMAN JOO MAHARAJ (1907-1991)

A LIFE SKETCH

Swami Lakshman Joo was born on May 9, 1907, Thursday at 4 pm at Namchabal, Fateh Kadal, Srinagar, Kashmir. He was the fifth child in a household of four boys and five girls. His father Pt. Naraindas Raina (also known as Nav Narayan) was the first man to have introduced House Boats in Kashmir and his mother Smt. Arnimali was a noble and god-fearing lady. Swamijee's birth came about through unusual circumstances. By the time Swamiji's eldest brother, Maheshwar Nath Raina had reached the age of eighteen, his mother had given birth to three more daughters but no sons. His parents wanted to have another boy. They approached Swami Ram, their family guru and asked him to give them something special, something magical, so they could have another son. Wanting very much to help, Swami Ram blessed an almond and gave it to Swamijee's mother to eat. As soon as the news of the birth of the new born was conveyed to Swami Ram, he literally danced in joy and exclaimed "I am Rama, let the child be called Lakshman." Finding the child far too precocious Lakshman Joo was put under the tutorage of Swami Rama.

It was at the age of 20, that he had the experience of self-realization for the first time. It was 4a.m. (Brahma Muhurta). After this, he would go into Samadhi even while he was in his workshop routine jobs. He now lost all interest in business, for which his father reprimanded him.

Inner struggle ensued and finally the call of the spirit proved to be irresistible. He bowed to the inner self, as it were, and left home with only the earnest aspirant to leave home for practising yoga at the famous ashram of Sadhamalyun in Handawara, Kashmir.

Das engaged the most efficient Pandit, Maheshwar Razdan, to teach his son Shaiva sastras at home. He also studied the Sanskrit was called "Lal Sahib" or friend of God.

Swamiji travelled widely with his devotees to various pilgrimages in various parts of Kashmir and rest of India.

Swamiji used to come regularly to Jammu in the winter months in 1970's-1990's for nearly a period of 20 years. He stayed here at the residence of his ardent devotee Late Shri B.D. Raina. Here in Jammu, Swamiji used to preach principles of Shaivism to His devotees. Sometimes He used to visit the capital, New Delhi, on the request of his devotees living in New Delhi.

In 1990, Swamiji went to USA with some of his foreign devotees to propagate Kashmir Shaivism in spite of his frail health. In USA after some months of stay, Swamiji's health deteriorated. He came back to India in June 1991.

The great master of Kashmir Saivism, Swami Lakshman Joo left his mortal frame and merged into the Supreme Siva on 27th Sept. 91, Friday at NOIDA, U.P.

In the words of Abhinav-agupta, "Some beings are enlightened only for their own liberation, but others for the sake of redeeming the whole world-just as a firefly shines only for itself, jewels shine for others, the stars shine for more, the moon shines for still more and the sun bestows light on the whole universe." Swami Lakshman joo is such a Sun indeed.

a Lion skin. A search for him followed but without success. His brothers, however, found a piece of paper with the following note left behind by the boy Lakshmana, "My dear brothers, I am leaving in search of the Supreme, kindly take care of my parents". The spiritual urge compelled

His father succeeded in persuading him to come to the city and accepting to live in a newly built house in their factory premises, as he had desired. Here the earnest scholar-saint devoted himself to the study of Kashmir Shaiva literature. Lakshmana Joo's father Pandit Naraian grammar and the allied schools of Indian philosophy at full length.

For Kashmiri disciples he explained the tenets of Shaivism in a literary style full of elegance and wit. To general audience he spoke in lucid Hindi/Kashmiri.

Affectionately, Swamijee

Swami Lakshman Joo Raina

C K GARYALI

Swami Lakshman Joo Raina is the last known philosopher-saint belonging to the Kashmir School of Shaivism. His contribution to the revival and understanding of Shaiva Siddhanta (the Principle of Shiva) has been most profound and abiding. He is also recognised as the greatest contemporary scholar and teacher on the subject and has guided scholars around the world in their study of Shaivism. My personal relationship with him was of eternal love between a father and a daughter. All through his mortal life I have enjoyed his deepest affection and loving indulgence.

I first heard about the Swamiji from my cousin Jagata (Dr. Jagat Mohini Kaul). Jagata had just arrived from Srinagar to join the Lady Harding Medical College in Delhi. She was distantly related to the Swamiji and was very fond of him. She also fascinated me with the stories about him.

The Swamiji was born in one of the most respected and wealthy Pundit families of Kashmir. Born with a silver spoon in his mouth, his father Narayan Joo Raina, apart from owning lands, orchards and properties, owned more than hundred houseboats. Hence, he was known as Naav-Narayan (Boat Narayan). The child Lakshmana was always absorbed in thoughts of the Lord. To distract him and to involve him in the affairs of the world, his engagement was fixed at the tender age of thirteen with the young and innocent Sharada. At the very prospect of marriage, he ran away from home and was found only when his quest for Shiva was fulfilled.

These interim years he had spent in the company of some of the greatest sages of contemporary India. During his early days of renunciation, the Guru of all contemporary Gurus, Swami Shivananda Ji Maharaj had adopted him. At his Ashram in Rishikesh, Swamiji not only engaged himself in the service of leprosy patients, but also learnt his early lessons in spirituality. He also seems to have spent sometime with Swami Ramdas in his Ashram at Kanchangarh near Mangalore. He had met Anandmai Ma and he also won the love and affection of Ramana Maharishi with whom he stayed at Tiruvannamalai. It appears that when he first encountered Ramana, he fainted with ecstasy.

Eventually, his father learnt that there was a young sadhu matching the description of Swamiji at a place called Sadhu Ganga. His father requested him to come home and Swamiji eventually relented on the condition there will be no more talk of marriage and he would be permitted to build an Ashram on the most scenic banks of Dal Lake next to Nishat Garden in the land belonging to the family and preach and teach Shaivism to the spiritually hungry community of Kashmiri Pundits. That is how Ishwar-Ashram came into being. The child Sharada who was engaged to him to be married had in the meanwhile refused to marry anyone else and had also dedicated her life to Lord Shiva. After the ashram was built, she expressed her desire to enter the ashram and serve the cause of Shiva. Ever since she has stayed in the ashram. She reminds one of 'Sharda Ma' wife of 'Ramakrishna'. She indeed could be an incarnation of 'Sharda Ma'.

Swamiji was no ordinary renunciate. By the time he came back to Kashmir he was already hailed as a great philosopher-teacher of Shiva Siddanta. Scholars of Indian scriptures flocked to him from all parts of the world and he made every effort to share the knowledge he had acquired with all genuine seekers without any discrimination. He was the honorary principal of a Sanskrit college and a Professor Emeritus for Banaras Hindu University for PhD students of Indian Philosophy and taught many Indian and foreign students. He did not perform miracles and was totally dedicated to Gyan Marg, the path of knowledge.

One evening when I had just started work in the Psychiatric Department of the All India Institute of Medical Sciences, Jagata landed up at the institute. I was about to go home, but she insisted that Swamiji was on a rare visit to Delhi and we must go and see him. Jagata, though younger than me, always used to have her way. So instead of going home I found myself entering the house of a Kashmiri Pundit devotee in Lajpat Nagar. Till then I had never met any guru or a sage in my life so my heart was full of excitement and anticipation and fear of the unknown.

I distinctively remember Swamiji sitting on the floor in the lotus position, in the middle of the drawing room, surrounded by a large crowd of men and women. He had a long face and a broad forehead with a vermilion mark, and his eyes were closed in deep meditation. The room was vibrant with the chant of:

Shivoham Shivoham Shivoham
Shivoham
Shivoham Shivoham Shivoham
Shivoham
Shivoham Shivoham Shiva
kevaloham
Shivoham Shivoham Shivoham
Shivoham
Shivoham Shivoham Shivoham
Shivoham

Meaning: (there is only Shiva, there is only Shiva, there is only Shiva - there is nothing but Shiva). Here Shiva meant the God Almighty.

We were hypnotised by his majestic looks and the dazzling aura emanating from his being. He appeared to be the very form of Shiva. It was the closest I have come to experiencing the divine in human form. We sat down on the floor and fell into the chant along with others. To my mind this has remained the sweetest chant about God till this day. Whenever I think of the God Almighty, my lips automatically whisper Shivoham Shivoham. Thus I acquired a gurn mantra like a boon 'unsought'. It is amazing that in my long years of acquaintance with Swamiji, I never asked him for any spiritual favours other than seeking his company which in itself was an ultimate spiritual favour.

In the room full of adults, the experience we two teenagers were undergoing was so intense that the tears started rolling down our eyes. As he opened his eyes he spotted Jagata and me sitting in a far corner of the room. He captivated us with his gaze for a while and then vine father. He pulled a book out of the pocket of his grey Phiran (the long woolen cloak) he was wearing and gave it to me. It was essentially a book on Zen Buddhism called 'The Zen flesh Zen bones'. He had contributed to this book, a dialogue between Shiva and Parvati held in the holy cave of Amarnath' translated from Sanskrit. The dialogue was found in an ancient manuscript recently unearthed by him. 'The Zen Flesh Zen bones' became my primer to spiritual education. It also showed to me at an early age that Zen Buddhism, Buddhism, Advaita, Shaiva Siddhanta, mysticism, Islamic Sufism all spring from a common source of spiritual realisation. What should matter to a human being is the spiritual realisation and not the source from which it came. He once again hugged me energizing my whole being. During this entire encounter we did not exchange a single word, but as he left for the airport he put his head out of the window of the cab and said, "Write to me".

I corresponded with Swamiji on and off, in happiness and in misery, like how one would write to a parent. I informed him religiously about such happenings as my passing the IAS exams, my romance, my marriage, my getting a daughter, my adopting a son, my successes, my failures and my disappointments with people or my work. Generally he took time off to reply to my trivial letters, writing beautifully, in black ink in his own hand with soul elevating contents. When I met my fiancé Dr. Rajkumar, a post graduate medical student at AIIMS and wrote to him that I had fallen in love. He replied, "One does not fall in love but only rises in love". These were amazing words giving ultimate importance to love and depicting it as the highest human achievement.

In April 1972 after I had just passed my IAS exams and was waiting to leave for Mussoorie, my aunt Jigri (Jagata's mother) called upon me to spend the summer in Kashmir and visit Ishwar Ashram. The 60th birthday celebrations of Swamiji was to take place and everyone from all parts of the world would be present. I felt this was a rare opportunity that I could not fore go. I was to leave Delhi for good and I did not know when I would get another chance to visit Kashmir and meet Swamiji. I accepted the invitation and left for Srinagar. I reached the ashram just on the birthday of Swamiji. He was seated motionless in the lotus position on a wooden seat and had been in meditation since the early hours of the morning. His face shone like the sun and his body looked ethereal. The ashram was thronging with thousands of devotees and students of Swamiji from different parts of India and abroad. They had come from places as diverse as Shivananda Ashram in Rishikesh, Varanasi in UP and London in UK. The devotees were continuously showering flowers on him, but he was not even aware of this. Soon he took the absolute form of an idol of Shiva and the devotees started performing holy abhishekam (bathing, anointing, decorating and worshipping with milk, rose water, and holy ash, flowers and incense, just as they would do to an idol of Shiva or Shiva Linga. This was the first time I saw a human being symbolising the divine in such totality that I almost started understanding the meaning of Advaita. After nearly twelve hours Swamiji rose from his samadhi. The atmosphere of the ashram which stood on the banks of the emerald hued Dal Lake and the fabled Nishat Garden was so enchanting and the air so rarified and pure. I spent a blissful week in the ashram while participating in all kinds of activities from decorating and cleaning the ashram, to helping in the kitchen and in serving food. After a very inspiring time in the ashram and after obtaining the blessings of Swamiji, I left for Delhi for my onward journey to Mussoorie to join the national Academy of Administration.

For many years I could not meet Swami Ji as and when I visited Kashmir he was away or when he was there I could not come. However, he remained always in my heart and was a great source of strength and solace to me. During 1981, my brother was getting married in Kashmir. As soon as I arrived in Srinagar, I found out that Swami Ji was in town. Swami Ji used to give audience only on Sundays and it was a Wednesday. It appeared that there was not even a remote chance of my being able to meet him. Even then, on arrival, I immediately left for Ishwar Ashram without wasting a minute. Everyone at home was busy preparing for the marriage so I had left home surreptitiously and took the bus from Lal Chowk to Nishat.

The bus, passing through the long and winding boulevard along the Dal Lake eventually reached Nishat Garden where Ishwar Ashram is located by the beautiful lake. Fortunately for me, the ashram door, which is normally kept closed, was open. I tip-toed in, not wanting to cause any disturbance. In front of me, in the closed verandah, I saw Shrika Ma having her lunch. She welcomed me but said, "Child, you know Swami Ji does not give audience except on Sundays and yet you have come today. He is upstairs in samadhi and would not come down till dinner time. What will you do now?"

She had barely spoken these words when we heard thumping of hurried footsteps on the wooden staircase. Within minutes, a beaming Swami Ji was down. He welcomed me with a hug and said mischievously, "I knew you were coming."

He spent a most delightful afternoon with me. We walked on the hillside. We took the ashram cows for grazing. He introduced me to all the cows, told me their names and made me feed them. Then we sat on the slope of the hill overlooking Dal Lake and chatted. Following that, I supervised the milking of the cows. Afterwards, the milk was taken to the

KASHMIR SHAIIVISM

THE FIFTEEN VERSES OF WISDOM

SRI ABHINAVA GUPTA

"Kashmir Shaivism is known as the Pure Trika system. It is 'the three-fold science of man and his world.' Kashmir Shaivism is a philosophy meant for any human being without restriction of caste, creed, color or gender. Trika philosophy is situated in the heart of that supreme energy of God consciousness. It teaches you to realize that this whole objective world, which is already in front of you, is not separate from God consciousness. You do not have to realize God situated in some seventh heaven. God and the individual are one. To realize this is the essence of Shaivism."

Spanda Means Vibration of Divine Consciousness. The teachings of Spanda Yoga Meditation are primarily based on the ancient, time-honored principles and practices of Trika Shaivism. This is the School of Spanda Yoga first established by Vasuguptacharya on the command of Lord Shiva, which flourished under Abhinavaguptacharya.

At one time, there existed a school with master teachers who lived exactly in the way they taught. This school was devoted to the study of the creation, sustenance and withdrawal of the universe. These master teachers of the Spanda School of Trika Shaivism spent generations in the study and practical application of energy flows and the realization of that place where Divinity and our "practical reality," called this world, meet.

These Acharyas were concerned with how we as human beings can perceive and understand our very existence as an aspect of one unifying energy, in order to better harness the forces of all creation, sustenance and withdrawal. Trika, in this context, stands for Shiva-Shakti-Nara; Shiva the Absolute, his active aspect, Shakti, and the individual soul, Nara; the three being one.

Shaivism is the oldest living faith in the world. Excavations in Mohenjodaro and Harappa reveal that Shaivism has a history that predates the Chalcolithic Age, thus making it the most ancient practiced spiritual path. Shaivism has three branches; Advaita (Trika) Shaiva, Vira Shaiva, and Shaiva Siddhanta. The Advaita (non-dualistic) branch flourished as The Spanda School (or Trika School) in the region now known as Kashmir province in Northern India.

The Advaita branch of Trika Shaivism (The Spanda School) existed starting in the early 9th century and flourished in a period from the 10th through the 13th centuries. The leading proponent of this path was Abhinavagupta who brought The Spanda School to its height in the 10th century. The written teachings of Abhinavaguptacharya were rediscovered and revived in the twentieth century by the late great sage Siddhacharya Swami Lakshman Joo, who lived in the Srinagar gardens of Kashmir and had his ashram there.

This branch of Shaivism is also known as Mahayoga, Siddha Mahayoga, Kundalini Maha Yoga or the Siddha (Kaula) Marg for its treatises and tantras that address Shaktipat, the awakening of Kundalini Shakti. This spiritual energy that lies dormant at the base of the spine, once awakened, causes Meditation to be spontaneous and, over time, delivers Lib-pletely absorbed in those principles inside his own being. Muktananda then began to teach the essential principles of Kashmir Shaivism

3. Shiva and Shakti are not aware that they are separate. They are interconnected just as fire is one with heat.

created below, and some of which are even created sideways. Attached to these worlds smaller portions of worlds are created.

eration to those doing sadhana (spiritual practice) under the guidance of a Siddha.

The Acharyas of the Spanda School were also artists and healers. Their path of spirituality was directly applied to practical, creative living and the expression of the arts and healing.

A great deal of Spanda Yoga is based on the philosophy and tradition of Spanda as taught by these ancient masters. We draw upon a good deal of the existing spiritual, scriptural and sacred texts (Agamas, Shastras) that describe the principles taught by the Shaivites. Acharya Kedar was taught these principles by Swami Muktananda Paramahansa and his Guru, Bhagawan Nityananda of Ganeshpuri.

One of the things Swami Muktananda always said was "Inner experience first, book knowledge second." Bhagawan Nityananda also told Muktananda that books do not make a mind, nor the knowledge that arises spontaneously from contact with the Self. To really experience the principles of Trika Shaivism and Spanda Yoga, you have to go beyond the intellectualism of scholars. You have to merge with the Shiva-Shakti principle itself. It is only then that you will fully understand and experience any Divine principle, whether it be taught in Trika Shaivism, Vedanta or any other path.

There are many who argue over direct/indirect lineage. Siddhas do not, having experienced the very source of all paths and labels from within their own being.

Although not a direct successor of the lineage of Abhinavagupta, Swami Muktananda Paramahansa, following in the footsteps of his Gurudev Bhagawan Nityananda, mastered all the principles of Kashmir Shaivism by becoming com-from the perspective of his own Divine experience within. It is this approach to Trika Shaivism, that of imbibing Shiva Consciousness within your own being first, which was taught to Acharya Kedar by Baba. This is the only meter for being able to teach Trika Shaivism to others. We are certain that the late great messenger of Kashmir Shaivism, Swami Lakshman Joo, would agree.

Therefore, we say, that Swami Muktananda and Bhagawan Nityananda were great Shaivites in the tradition of The Spanda School of Trika Shaivism, the owner, chief executive officer, author and executor of which is no "man" or "woman," but Lord Shiva himself.

Bodhapanchadashika
The following 15 verses were written by the great Siddha Master of Kashmir Shaivism, Sri Abhinavagupta, and titled Bodhapanchadashika. They are taken from the translation by Swami Lakshman Joo which appears in a collection of talks of Swamiji compiled by John Hughes in a book entitled Self-Realization In Kashmir Shaivism which can be purchased from SUNY Press by calling 607-277-2211.

These 15 verses express the very essence of the doctrine and philosophy of Trika Shaivism. They are the heart of the teachings of Trika Shaivism and Spanda Yoga.

The Fifteen 15 Verses of Wisdom

1. The brilliance of the One Being's light does not vanish in external light or in darkness because all light and darkness resides in the supreme light of God Consciousness.

2. This Being is called Lord Shiva. He is the nature and existence of all beings. The external objective world is the expansion of His Energy and it is filled with the glamour of the glory of God Consciousness.

4. He is the God Bhairava. He creates, protects, destroys, conceals, and reveals His nature through the cycle of this world (The 5-fold Act of Divine Consciousness). This whole universe is created by God in His own nature, just as one finds the reflection of the world in a mirror.

5. The collective state of the universe is His supreme Energy (Shakti), which He created in order to recognize His own nature. This (Shakti), who is the embodiment of the collective state of the universe, loves possessing the state of God Consciousness. She is in the state of ignorance, remaining perfectly complete and full in each and every object.

6. The supreme Lord Shiva, who is all-pervasive and fond of playing and falling, together with the Energy of His own nature, simultaneously brings about the varieties of creation and destruction.

7. This supreme action cannot be accomplished by any other power in this universe except Lord Shiva, who is completely independent, perfectly glorious and intelligent.

8. The limited state of consciousness is insentient and cannot simultaneously expand itself to become the various forms of the universe. The possessor of independence is absolutely different from that insentient state of consciousness. You cannot, therefore, recognize Him in only one way. The moment you recognize Him in one way you will also recognize Him in the other way.

9. This Lord Shiva, who is completely independent (svatantrya), has the diversity of creation and destruction existing in His own nature. And, at the same time, this diversity is found existing in its own way as the field of ignorance.

10. In this world you will find varieties of creation and destruction, some of which are created in the upper cycle, some of which are

Pain, pleasure, and intellectual power are created according to the status of being. This is the world.

11. If you do not understand that there is actually no span of time, this misunderstanding is also the independence (svatantrya) of Lord Shiva. This misunderstanding results in worldly existence (samsara). And those who are ignorant are terrified by worldly existence.

12-13. When, because the grace of Lord Shiva is showered upon you or, due to the teachings or vibrating force (shaktipat) of your Master, or through understanding the scriptures concerned with Supreme Shiva, you attain the real knowledge of reality, that is the existent state of Lord Shiva, and that is final Liberation. This fullness is achieved by elevated souls and is called Liberation in this life (jivanmukti).

14. These two cycles, bondage and liberation, are the play of Lord Shiva and nothing else. They are not separate from Lord Shiva because differentiated states have not risen at all. In reality, nothing has happened to Lord Shiva.

15. In this way the Lord, Bhairava (Shiva), the essence of all being, has held in His own way, in His own nature, the three great energies: the energy of will (iccha shakti), the energy of action (kriya shakti), and the energy of knowledge (jnana shakti). These three energies are just like that trident which is the three-fold lotus. And seated on this lotus is Lord Bhairava, who is the nature of the whole universe of 118 worlds.

16. I, Abhinavagupta, have written and revealed these verses for some of my dear disciples who have very little intellectual understanding. For those disciples, who are deeply devoted to me, I have composed these fifteen verses just to elevate them instantaneously.

PANDIT JANKINATH KAUL 'KAMAL'

Fathers of the Kashmir Monistic Saiva Thought, who flourished in the valley from ninth to thirteenth century A.D., were erudite scholars and eminent saints. They recorded what they practised and accomplished thereby. Later, there were interruptions in this line of thought, and it was mostly the ritualistic faith that kept the tradition alive. After Sivopadyaya, the eighteenth century scholar-saint who wrote commentaries and books of the kind, there appeared saints of the order during nineteenth century. But they, only taught the lore and made no use of pen. Early twentieth century saw the Kashmir of past glory blessed with a son who, not only practised and lived this wonderful philosophy-the Trika Saiva of Kashmir named Pratyabhijna Darsana-but also disseminated its postulates by teaching and writing among the seekers of Truth in the country and among those from foreign lands.

BIRTH AND INITIATION

A luminary of the first magnitude on the spiritual firmament of modern times, Lakshmana Raina was born at Namchibal in Srinagar (Kashmir) on May 9, 1907. He showed signs of spiritual fertility from his very birth. Finding the child far too precocious, his noble, god-fearing and devout parents put him in the tutorage of Swami Rama, who had been their family priest, and saint of high order in the tradition of the refined Tantric Monism of Kashmir known as the Trika system. From his early childhood Lala Saab cast a spell not only over his parents and relatives but also on Swami Rama. At sixteen, however, the boy was ripe enough for being initiated by Swami Mahtab Kak, who had been commissioned by his illustrious preceptor just before entering mahasamadhi, when the promising Lakshmana was only seven years old. The enterprising and well-to-do parents could not prevail upon the young boy, to enter the life of a householder or even to take up a job.

RENUNCIATION AND LEARNING

It was typical of young Lakshmana to take his own time to do things rather than act on the spur of moment and force the pace. He had requested his loving parents to make a place available for him in solitude. But it took them some time to execute the promised plan. Yet the spiritual urge compelled the earnest aspirant to leave home for practising yoga at the famous forest ashrama of Sadha-malyun in Handawara, Kashmir. He left no clue about himself at home except a line on a piece of paper requesting his brothers to give comfort to his parents. Getting the clue after a thorough and anxious search for the young Lakshmana, his father Pandit Narayan Das and his preceptor Swami Mahtab Kak went there to meet him. They succeeded in persuading him to come to the city and accept to live in a newly built house in their factory premises as he had desired. Here the earnest scholar-saint devoted himself to the study of Kashmir Saiva literature available at the Research Department of the Jammu and Kashmir Government started early by Sir Pratap Singh, the then Maharaja of the state. Highly learned Pandits had helped the department in editing and publishing a number of books on Kashmir Saivism, excavated and discovered throughout the state.

Lakshmana Joo engaged the most efficient Pandit, Rajanaka Maheshvara to teach him Saiva sastra at home. He also studied Sanskrit grammar and the allied schools of Indian philosophy at full length. He edited the Bhagavad Gita with its Sanskrit commentary by Abhinavagupta and wrote important footnotes to it. This was published when he was about twenty-five years old.

SECLUSION
During the year 1934-35 Brahmacari Lakshmana Joo chose a secluded place at the foot-hill above Ishaber village in the vicinity of the famous Nishat garden. He loved the spot because his ideal teacher Abhinavagupta, one of the most prominent authors of Kashmir Saivism, had lived somewhere around the place in vineyards about nine centuries ago. A bungalow was constructed by his parents at the selected site. It had a spacious garden with multi-colour flower-beds, fruit-bearing trees and a vegetable garden. Adjacent to this spiritual abode Sri Jia Lal Sopori of Srinagar built a house for his daughter Sharika Devi, who, after taking a vow of leading a celibate life, had found her worthy preceptor in Brahmacari Lakshmana Joo. Deviji remained in utter penance for attaining perfection in the monistic Saiva order by learning Agama Sastra from him and practising Saiva-yoga under his care. Devotees and seekers of Truth began to pour in now. It was about this time that the present writers was introduced to this holy man of divine charm by his own master and later recommended for the study of Utpaladeva's masterpiece, Sivastotravali. This marked the beginning of the Sunday class at the ashrama that always remained increasing and surcharged with wonderful spiritual vibrations.

MEETING RAMANA MAHARSHI

Suddenly the young saint made a silent trip to certain places of his own choice in India. He wanted to confer with saints of high order perhaps to ascertain his attainments. He spent some time at Bombay beach to establish his power of spiritual perception. Then spending a very short time with Mahatma Gandhi at Sevagram he conscious circumstances, Swami ji disposed off his immovable property along with that of Sharika Devi ji, about the year 1957 and started to live in a small house newly constructed at a stone's throw from the general road near Gupta Ganga Temple in Ishaber village. 'Ishwara Ashrama' was the name given to the ashrama and the disciples began to call Swami ji Ishwara Swarupa. (This ashrama is the headquarter of Ishwara Ashrama Trust now).

ASHRAMA ACTIVITIES

The Ashrama activities gathered momentum. Swamiji held regular Sunday class/satsanga. On Mondays he observed silence (maunam) and spent his day in 'God's House', the tiny cottage for rushed to have a glimpse of Sri Aurobindo at Pondicherry where the Mother evinced interest in him. Therefrom he found his way to Tiruvanamalai to meet Ramana Maharshi at the Ramanachramam. Bhagavan Ramana looked at the young attractive saint graciously. It must have been the moment of Drstidiksa-initiation by mere sight. Swami Lakshmana Joo spent some weeks in the presence of the Maharshi. He later expressed: "I felt those golden days were indeed divine". Thus Swamiji revived in 1938 A.D. the spiritual link that united Madras and Kashmir when a monk of Madhurai, named Madhuraja, had travelled to Kashmir in the eleventh century to meet the great Abhinavagupta. Swamiji returned to Kashmir with greater spiritual charm. He then wrote a Hindi translation of the Sambapancasika, adding important hints as footnotes to it. This was published in 1943.

AUROBINDVAN SOLITUDE

Swami Lakshmana Joo took to strict seclusion in his own ashrama premises for several months. During that period of 'Aurobindvan solitude', he concentrated on the Kramastotra culled out from the Tantraloka. Giving a wonderful exposition of the twelve forms of Saiva Yoga in lucid Hindi preceded by the original Sanskrit text, this small book of deep insight into the Reality of dvadasakali was published in 1958. Along with his progress in spiritual attainments, Swamiji propagated the Saiva faith so efficiently and effectively that scholars and seekers after Truth got drawn towards him, not only from his own country but also from abroad.

THE ISHWARA ASHRAMA

After India was declared a free country, she has virtually remained in shambles, not tidy as before. A sense of insecurity increased day by day in everyone's mind and almost everywhere. In the suspimeditation, built in a beautiful small garden near the previous ashrama-place. A set programme was followed on other weekdays. A spacious lecture hall with cupboards on one side for library and a havana-shala for annual yagya were constructed in the premises of Shri Ranvir Siva Temple, Gupta Ganga by the Dharmarth Trust of Jammu and Kashmir under the trusteeship of Dr. Karan Singh, former union minister and ambassador. The complex was named Kashmir Saiva Pathika. Sunday discourses on Tantraloka by Swamiji, lectures by eminent spiritualists and seminars were held there with grace and glory. Swami ji, at certain occasions gave series of lectures on spiritual topics for the elevation of common people, besides taking special classes and guiding scholars in their research work. Maiden translation with footnotes in Hindi of his favourite book Sivastotravali was published by the Chowkhamba Sanskrit series office, Varanasi in 1964. This Swamiji taught with a new exposition each time.

HONOURS CONFERRED

Two saintly persons of Swami ji's calibre, contemporaneous with him, were Pandit Nilakantha Jyotishi (later Swami Nilakanthananda Saraswati, D.L.S., Richikesh) and Pandit Satram Bhat of Ishaber. Although each had a different mode of thought yet the 'spiritual trio' was destined to meet and corroborate on the Yoga-bhumi of Ishaber. They met closely on Rrahma-sutra Sankarabhasya and Yogavasistha Maharamayana. Scholars and professors came to Swamiji from the universities of Torino (Italy), Paris, Oxford, and America for his guidance in Pratyabhijna and Tantraloka. To the scholars and his disciples from foreign lands he gave pithy and short lectures on abstruse topics in English. For Kashmiri disciples he explained the tenets of Saivism in a literary style full of elegance and wit. To general audiences he spoke in lucid Hindi. Swami Lakshmana Joo read his paper in Sanskrit on 'Kundalini Vijnana Rahasyam' at the All India Tantra Sammelanam held under the auspices of the Varanaseya Sanskrit University at Varanasi in the year 1965. His exposition of the subject was much applauded by the great luminary Mahamahopadhyaya Gopinath Kaviraj and other scholars of great repute. After some years the Varanaseya Sanskrit University conferred upon Swami Lakshmana Joo the degree of D. Lit., honoris causa, in recognition of his splendid and valuable service to the cause of Sanskrit. When Swami ji was informed about this, he simply gave an innocent smile and said in an expression of humour "I have become a doctor now". The Jammu and Kashmir Akademi of Art, Culture and Languages presented the robe of honour to Swamiji at a special function while Mir Qasim was Chief Minister of the state.

CONTRIBUTION

Swamiji's contribution to the promotion of the studies in Kashmir Saivism, propagation of the Trika philosophy and growth of Kashmiri culture will be remembered for long. This considerably helped the revival of this philosophy and way of life which had otherwise been fading away due to political changes in the valley. Swamiji, however, became known nationally and internationally as the best exponent of Trika philosophy. The saint-scholar gained spiritual ecstasy of jivanamukta (liberated while living) and in his own country came to be known as 'the sage of Ishaber' to whom all sorts of people - young and old, male or female - came to pay obeisance and receive blessings or a blissful touch. A reproduction of a few of his lectures in English was published in 1982 under the caption: "Lectures on Practice and Discipline in Kashmir Saivism." "The Kashmir Saivism - supreme secret" was published in the year 1985. This contains lectures on important topics of Saiva philosophy based on the Pratyabhijna of Utpaladeva and the Tantraloka of Abhinavagupta given by Swamiji to his western disciples. The Pancastavi of Dharmacharya with comprehensive Hindi translation and footnotes was published in the year 1987. Beside these works, some of the texts relating to Kashmir series (K.S.T.S.) were translated for the first time by Thakur Jaidev Singh after they were taught to him by the Master. Jaidev's language reflects in a luminous fashion the mystical experiences in the texts namely Pratyabhijna hrdaya, Siva sutra, Vijnanabhairava and Paratrisika which also bear his elaborate introductions. Swamiji's immense erudition stimulated some more disciples and admirers to expound these Saiva texts. Prof. Nilakanth Gurttoo wrote Hindi translations of Paratrisika and Spandakarika. The present writer, wrote an independent, pithy and

"The call of the spirit proved irresistible"

G.N. RAINA

Kashmir Shaivism has penetrated to that depth of living thought where diverse currents of human wisdom unite in a luminous synthesis.

- Rabindranath Tagore

SAIVISM in Kashmir, as distinct from Southern Shaivism, synthesizes essential things that are to be found in almost all the six systems of Indian philosophy and stamps it with the personal experiences and observations of its exponents.

Right from the founder of Shaiva system, Vasugupta who, as revealed to him in a dream, found SIVASUTRAS, (he later authored), inscribed on a rock called SHANKER PAL (Shankar's rock) in the forest in the lap of the sacred Mahadev mountain, through Kallata Bhatt, Somananada, Utpaladeva and that profound thinker, Abhinavagupta, down to Swami Ramji and Swami Lakshman Joo, in our own times, an attempt, and a successful one at that, has been made at intelligent synthesis of all that is abiding, universal and enduring in VEDANTA, SANKHYA, NYAYA, VAISHESHICA, VAISHNAVA and SHAKTA and even in Buddhist teachings.

Little wonder, therefore, Kashmir Shaivism has attracted the attention of many eminent thinkers and scholars who consider it more synthetic and profound than all the other known works on religious philosophies of the world. And for this no small credit goes to Rajanaka Lakshmana (Swami Ishwara Swarupji), popularly called Lakshman Joo whose exposition of the Saiva texts was backed by his personal experiences and, therefore, went home to the scholars and students coming from all parts of India and the world. We were fortunate to have had an advanced Yogi like him walking and moving amongst us as a living vibrating Truth.

It is only when you met him, as I did for an interview in 1971, that you would feel his irresistible charm emanating from that sweet child-like innocence which hid from our naked eye his spiritual and philosophic attainments. As a man, he was upright, humble and very generous. Hundreds and thousands flocked to him for succor and he was not found wanting in this respect. Many an afflicted found solace in his presence.

Swami Lakshman Joo was born on 9th May, 1907 (Vaisakha Krishna Dwadasi), Thursday, at 4 p.m., in Srinagar, Kashmir. His father, Shri Narayandas Raina, the first man to have introduced house-boats in Kashmir, and his mother, Shrimati Aranyamali, were greatly devoted to Swami Ramji, who was their family GURU and who had by then become their spiritual teacher also. Swami Ramji was the greatest exponent of SHAIVA-AGAMA and he was also a Siddha Purusha. Many stories are current about his Siddhis. It is said that he had only to look at or touch a person and he was bound to be a changed man. Shri Narayandas had built a separate house for him where he could carry out his Sadhana and teach the Saiva texts to his pupils. This is now known as Rama-Trika-Saivashrama, located in Fatehkadal, not far from the ancestral home of Swami Lakshman Joo.

As soon as the news of the birth of Swamiji was conveyed to Swami Ram, he literally danced in joy and exclaimed: "I am called Rama, let the child be called Lakshman". How prophetic Swami Ram was! Subsequent events proved that Swami Lakshman Joo was to Swami Ram what Vivekananda was to Sri Ramakrishna Paramhansa.

Lakshman Joo did show his leanings towards the higher life in early childhood. At the age of three, his play consisted in making a Shiva-linga out of clay for worship. At five, he would sit down for meditation and in this condition, he would exhibit signs of abnormal behavior which worried his parents. They approached Swami Ram who said, "This boy was a great Yogi in his past life. His Yoga would be consummated in this life". Lakshman Ji's childhood was spent under the spiritual care of this great sage, Swami Ram who taught him the Japa of Gayatri Mantra and also certain Yogic exercises according to the Saiva discipline. Before Swami Ram took Mahasamadhi, he entrusted his disciples and the seven-year-old Lakshman to the charge of his principal disciple, Mahtab Kak who later taught Saiva Sastras to Swamiji.

In school also, Swamiji used to go into Samadhi now and then. One of his inquisitive teachers once asked him what he noticed in the state of absorption, to which he replied in Kashmiri that he experienced "BADA BODA", the highest, the supreme. Yet another teacher asked him to do physical exercises. Instead, Lakshman collected a group of students and sang Bhajans. Enraged, the teacher inflicted 25 cane strokes on him for defiance. Next day, it is said, the teacher fell ill and had fever exactly for twenty-five days.

At 13, his parents thought of arranging his matrimony (as was the custom those days of marrying quite early). But Lakshman's reply in the negative was firm and emphatic. When he was in pre-matriculation, his father fell ill and he was asked to look after his business. He had to give up his studies. As he was now free from the routine work of the school, he devoted most of his time to the study of the Saiva Sastras from Mahtab Kak. He devoted even greater time to the practice of Yoga, for he did not want to confine himself only to the theoretical but without success. His brothers, however, found on a piece of paper the following note left behind ther promised to build for him an Ashram in an unfrequented place in Srinagar itself.

Lakshman Joo, meanwhile, lived in a village, Danyahama in Harvan, near Srinagar. Four months later, his Ashram was completed and he moved into it. It was here that Lakshman Joo made deeper study of Saiva Sastras from the reputed scholar, Maheshwar Nath Razdan, for seven long years. It was at this time, Sharika Devi, daughter of Shri Jialal, approached Lakshman Joo to accept her as his pupil. She practiced Yoga under his guidance and she was lucky to have self-realization in a few year's time. Overwhelmed by her experience, she lost mental balance for a few years when she had to be moved to her parent's house. Again, it was Lakshman Joo who went to see her, gave her a grape to eat, and then she started improving and in due course, she regained her normal condition. Lakshman Joo also initiated Prabha Ji, the younger sister of Sharika Devi.

In 1934, Lakshman Joo built an Ashram for himself on a site between Nishat and Shalimar Gardens. It was named Isvara Ashram. Sharika Ji's father also built a house for her on a plot of land nearby. While Nature has bestowed picturesqueness on the Ashram, the peace and harmony radiated from the one who hallowed it by his presence, Swami Lakshman Joo.

Swami Lakshman Joo left his mortal frame and merged into the Supreme, Shiva, on 27th of September, Thursday, at Brahma Muhurat. The great master of Kashmir Shaivism that he was, he has taught us that Param Shiva or Supreme Reality is both static and dynamic. The dynamic aspect of Param Shiva is known as Shakti and the entire manifestation is a play of his Shakti. The world is not an illusion as held by Vedanta but an epiphany, an expression of the Divine Shakti. For the average man, the best means for ascent in the spiritual path is to find out a competent Guru whose Grace will lead the aspirant to the Supreme Bliss. And Swamiji has summed it up thus in his own poetic form:

There is a point twixt sleep and waking.

Where thou shalt be alert without shaking:

Enter into the new world where forms so hideous pass,

They are passing, - endure, do not be taken by the dross.

Then the pulls and the pushes about the throttle,

All those shalt thou tolerate, Close all ingress and egress; - yawnings there may be; Shed tears-crave-implore, but thou wilt not prostrate,

A 'thrill' passes, - and that goes down to the bottom;

It riseth, may it bloom forth, - that is BLISS;

Blessed being, Blessed being, - O'Greetings be to Thee.

part of the Saiva system. He used to practice Yoga from two in the night to dawn.

It was at the age of 20, as he told me, that he had the experience of self-realization for the first time. And the time was 4 a.m. (Brahma Muhurat). After this, he used to go into Samadhi even while by the boy Lakshman: "My dear brothers, I am leaving in search of the Supreme. Kindly take care of my parents". After frantic telegrams and telephonic messages and even report to the police about the missing boy, his father received the following message from a relative in Sopore: "This morning I he was in his workshop. He now lost all interest in business, for which he was reprimanded by his father. Inner struggle ensued and finally the call of the Spirit proved to be irresistible. He bowed to the Inner Monitor, as it were, and left home with only a lion's skin for sitting. A search for him followed saw Lakshman going on foot to Sadhuganga Ashram". The parents rushed to Sopore where they found the boy seated on the lion's skin in deep meditation near a spring in a jungle. When he returned to normal consciousness, he told his parents that he could no more live in the home. His fa-

The second class of Tantras is founded on the mono-dualistic aspect of Kashmir Shaivism. These Tantras are called Rudra Tantras.

The third class is based on dualistic Shaivism. These Tantras are called Shiva Tantras.

The philosophy of these Tantras was re-originated at the beginning of Kaliyuga by the sage Durvasa. Many centuries later this Tantric philosophy of Kashmir Shaivism was taught by four great Masters in four great Schools Pratyabhijna School, Krama School, Kula School and Spanda School.

Pratyabhijna means recognition. The realization of what one has always been in one's essential timeless nature. This system was expounded in Kashmir by Somananda.

The Krama School is grounded in space, time and form. Its purpose is to develop such strength of awareness that one transcends the circle of time, space and form and thus becomes timeless, spaceless and formless. This thought of the Krama School of Shaivism was taught by Sri Erakanatha.

The third School of Kashmir Shaivism called the Kula system. The purpose of this School is to discard individual energy and to enter into blissful energy of the totality. This thought was re-originated and taught by Sumatinatha in Kashmir.

The fourth, the Spanda School of this system was re-originated in Kashmir by Vasuguptanatha. Spanda means "Vibration" and the system which goes by its name directs the aspirant to concentrate on each and every movement in this world. Even the movement of a blade of grass will carry you to God-consciousness.

In fact these four Schools are not separate from each other. All the four carry the Sadhaka to the throne of Universal God-consciousness.

This thought of Kashmir Shaivism so great, world affirming and universal that it has deeply impressed many western minds also, hoisting out as it does wonderful vision of this whole Universe as nothing but the Blissful energy of an all pervading consciousness—Lord Shiva. Some other time I shall vividly explain more and more of the secrets of Kashmir Shaivism.

Kashmir Shaivism called the Trika philosophy, the three-fold science. To clarify, this three-fold science is based on the three energies of Lord Shiva. These three energies are called Para, Parapara, and Apra (Supreme, Intermediate, and Inferior). 'Para' means the Supreme energy of Lord Shiva, otherwise known as His subjective energy. 'Parapara' is the medium, the intermediate energy of Lord Shiva. It is called His cognitive energy. The third, Apra, is Lord Shiva's Inferior energy and is referred to as His objective energy.

In fact, the human being resides in the objective Inferior energy of Lord Shiva. This Trika philosophy of Kashmir Shaivism teaches us how this individual being, immersed in inferior energy, can be carried towards the Supreme, subjective energy of Lord Shiva through His cognitive, Intermediate energy. So the purpose of studying this Trika system is to rise from objective energy through cognitive energy and finally be one with the subjective energy of Lord Shiva.

As long as one resides in objective energy one is the victim of sadness and sorrow and is entangled in the wheel of repeated births and deaths. So one has to emerge from objective energy and enter into subjective energy, in which one is liberated from all this sadness, and becomes absolute in the attainment of final beatitude.

For this journey Trika thought has laid down three means within the body of cognitive energy, for it is cognitive energy alone that can carry you towards the subjective energy of Lord Shiva. The purpose of cognitive energy is to de-Saktopaya, and the third, Inferior mean is called Anavopaya. These means are handled and practiced according to the ability of the seeker.

SAMBHAVOPAYA

Sambhavopaya is that path of which the Sadhaka must rid himself of the recitation of Mantras - of Sadhana based on breathing; meditation on particular deities; concentrating on some spiritual thought; and so on. He has only to develop his awareness of "I" - consciousness, and that, too, not in any particular place. By the constant awareness of this "I" - consciousness, individual "I" - consciousness quickly vanishes as it is united with His subjective energy and becomes Jivan-Mukta (released in life).

This path is meant for those seekers who reside at the highest level of ability.

SAKTOPAYA

Saktopaya is the means in which the aspirant or seeker has to develop concentration upon God-consciousness by means of some particular spiritual thought bestowed by the Master. Here the Sadhaka has to concentrate on that particular thought of God-consciousness without the support of Pranayama; Mantra, and so on. He must develop God consciousness simply and only by meditating upon this thought. He has nothing to do with these discarded methods. That single thought of God consciousness will alone carry him to the Supreme State of Transcendental Being. Saktopaya is meant for those who have neither the highest nor the lowest power of meditating energy.

ANAVOPAYA

Anavopaya is that means in which a Sadhaka who is endowed course, to develop God-con- Tantras revealed by Lord Shiva.

Abhinavagupta Solves the Riddle

SWAMI LAKSHMAN JOO MAHARAJ

Is a thing by its nature pure holy (Suddha) or impure unholy (Asuddha)? Or putting it in ethical terms, is an action by its nature right or wrong?

Abhinavagupta solves it as follows:

Purity or impurity (suddhi or asuddhi) is not the essential quality or nature of any object, because in that case the purification of a thing of which the scriptures talk would be impossible as the essential nature can not change, but if it changes it is not essential. Purity or impurity have therefore to be admitted to be the ideas of a particular subject which are firmly associated with a thing. It is why what is pure to one person is not so to another. For the idea of purity of one thing and impurity of another is inspired by the scripture in which an individual has faith. According to Shaiva conception whatever is recognized to be one with the samvit is pure and what is not so recognised is impure. Hence to those who look upon the whole universe as identical with self, the distinction between pure and impure does not exist.

ashram kitchen and tea was prepared. As a snack with the tea, Swami Ji ordered home-made Kashmiri double-chapattis to be made for me. It was one of the tastiest tea snacks I have had in my life. We spent the whole day in this fashion and did not realise when the sunset and it was time for me to go back.

Since I was an indulgent child of Swami Ji, I was happy to be just around him and bask in the love he showered on me. I never asked him for any spiritual knowledge, Guru Mantra or path to achieve enlightenment. I just wanted his love, which he gave in abundance. With the result, I never received any holy initiation or indoctrination from him and continued to remain in a happy state of ignorance.

However, this time, when I was leaving, he asked me if I had been to Thiruvannamalai. When I replied in the negative, he said, "Go to Thiruvannamalai as often as possible - to the ashram of Sri Ramana Maharishi. I really did not know why Swami Ji was asking me to go to Thiruvannamalai till I learnt that he had stayed with Ramana for quite some time and Ramana Maharishi was one of the great masters he learnt from. At that time I really did not know how I would be able to go to Thiruvannamalai, which looked so far away from Madras.

To my amazement, as soon as I arrived, I found myself posted as collector of South Arcot. Thiruvannamalai was on the border of South Arcot district. It was just a stone's throw from Thirukoilur as well as Senji where I often went touring and camping. I made it a point to visit Thiruvannamalai regularly. I used to surreptitiously cross the district border and make a night halt at Thiruvannamalai whenever I was working in the vicinity. The government guesthouse was just across the ashram.

I loved meditating in the ashram and walking around Arunachala hill that is supposed to be the very body of 'Shiva' Himself. Walking around the hill is considered a very purifying activity. I have trekked the entire hill in the company of my children Priya and Siddharth along with my AC-trainee, Dadhoo, and trainee ASP, Dogra, on many times.

From the top of the hill we used to see a fantastic and panoramic view of the layout of the temple. The temple of Thiruvannamalai, with its several prakarams and 11 gopurams, is an architectural marvel and a magnificent sight to see. This temple has been used as a fortress during several wars. The most important holy place on the hill of Arunachala is Ramana's cave. Here Ramana Maharishi is supposed to have achieved enlightenment. Many devotees sit here and meditate and experience a great sense of bliss. On the whole, the entire ashram at Thiruvannamalai is vibrant with Ramana's presence. In Ramana's personal room and in the big meditation hall many devotees get into a trance. Thousands of Western devotees frequent the ashram every year. For me, a visit to the ashram and the temple is always very fulfilling.

The festival of Deepam, celebrated 20 days after Deepavali, is the most important festival of Thiruvannamalai. On the occasion, the biggest lamp in the world is lit, to propitiate the God almighty, on top of the Arunachala hill. The flame can be seen for miles. The principle of Shiva is associated with five basic elements of life called 'Pancha Bhoothas' which are water, air, fire, ether and earth. The Shiva at Arunachala is associated with the Fire element.

Recently, I was fortunate to visit the temple during Karthikai Deepam. I arrived in the evening with my cousin Gita. Immediately, we set out for Girivalam - the walk around the holy hill. We walked barefooted for the entire 14-km stretch, stopping at various shrines to worship the Lord. In the morning, we witnessed the special puja associated with the Deepam festival inside the sanctum of the temple.

A big light was lit. This light was carried ceremonially by the priests to the top of the hill in the evening. With the help of this light, the lamp on top of the hill was lit amidst the shouts of "Arunachala - Arunachala". It was a rare, invigorating experience for me.

I realised Swami Ji never indoctrinated me but introduced me to God in a very subtle way. I did not even realise when Arunachala Shiva had crept into my heart.....

uptodate Hindi commentary on Sivasutras that was highly praised by the Master. Smt. Kamala Bawa translated the text and commentary of Pratyabhijna hridayam into Hindi. Smt. Prabha Devi translated into Hindi Para Pravesika, Paramarhasara and Guru Stuti. All these have been published. Dr. Oscar Botto wrote on Abhinavagupta and Tantraloka in Italian and Dr. Lillian Silburn (France) translated some Saiva hymns and certain texts on Saivism into Italian and French respectively. Thus Swamiji taught as well as spread with effective measure this unique philosophy of Kashmir in the country and abroad.

BIRTHDAY AND EXCURSIONS

Swamiji's birthday was celebrated every year on such a grand scale that it turned to be a great fair for common people and an auspicious day for his admirers and devotees who flocked from all parts of the country to have a glimpse of the sage sitting in long samadhi. Indian as well as foreign disciples attended to see this godman 'living free' on this earth. Sri Dinanath Ganjoo, Smt. Kamla Bhagati, Sri Narayan Joo and Smt. Raj Dulari Kaul among many others sang Kashmiri poems of eulogy to their preceptor. This cheerful holyman of wisdom, wit and peace distributed prasada and day long. The next day Swamiji spent in giving gifts to devotees and disciples. Once Swamiji remarked "If I had to celebrate my birthday twice a year I would finish up all my extra property by distributing it."

Excursions to places of sanctity and natural scenery in the valley were occasionally arranged. Kirtans by disciples and discourses by Swamiji were usual features all along. Prominent places visited on large group excursions were: Takshakanag, Verinag, Karkutanang, Sadha-malyun, Uma

Nagari, Hangalgund, Tangamarag, Naran-nag (Sindh Valley), Dacchigam and Dara etc. by bus, and different places around and in Dal Lake by dunga (house-boat) during summer besides longer trips to Hardwar and Rishikesh during winter.

Moments of bliss were experienced when saints and men of learning came to meet the sage of Ishabhar. Dr. Karan Singh often visited the ashrama to receive blessings. Smt. Indira Gandhi, the former Prime Minister of India sought interview with the sages whenever she came on a visit to the state. Swamiji had a meeting with J. Krishnamurti at Kotarkhana in the Dal Lake. Maharshi Mahesh Yogi visited the Ishawara Ashrama and invited Swamiji to his houseboats in the Dal Lake. Swamiji gave an interesting exposition of the Vijnanabhairava to his devotees on request. Paul Repts, in his short introduction to the chapter 'Centering' says: "It presents 112 ways to open the invisible door of consciousness. I see Lakshmana joo gives his life to its practice". Swami Ramdas (a jivanmukta) of Kanhangarh, Mangalore, Swami Satyananda Saraswati of Munger, and Swami Muktananda of Ganeshpuri were pleased to meet the Swami when they visited Srinagar. Swami Lakshmana Joo himself attended and presided over spiritual meetings held occasionally in the valley and outside it. In 1976 Sri Ramakrishna Ashram, Srinagar (Kashmir) organized a spiritual congregation in the Ashrama precincts. This was graced by the world famous cultural ambassador of India, Swami Ranganathananda while the meeting was presided over by Swami Lakshmana Joo, who described Sri Ramakrishna as a sidha yogi.

Another time Swami Ranganathananda was invited by Swamiji to address a special meeting of scholars and devotees and declared the chief guest as 'messenger of peace'. Swamiji occasionally went to Hardwar and Rishikesh to meet saints, especially Swami Sivananda Saraswati of the Divine Life Society giving expositions to parallelism of Kashmir Saiva Mysticism with the mysticism of Sankara Vedanta.

ECSTASY

During his years of maturity, Swami Lakshmana joo was writing a comprehensive compendium of Kashmir Saiva Darsana in lucid Hindi. It runs into several chapters. Excerpts from the manuscript were at times read out by him to selected disciples among whom the present writer was fortunate to be one. It is understood that writing of the book remained incomplete but was published later in 1994 by Sri Prabha Deviji. Prof. P.N. Pushp, while writing his foreward to this book titled Trika Rahasya Prakriya has also observed the incompleteness of this work. During his latter days of ecstasy Swamiji only explained selected pithy verses from the Agama sastras and Yogavasishta and sang these along with his disciples in divine rapture. These continue to be sung by devotees at Sunday satsang meetings with the wonderful Gurustuti composed early by one of Swamiji's illustrious disciple of Varanasi, Sri Rameshwar Jha, who having studied and practised Vedantic Mysticism had found great interest in the Kashmir Saiva Mysticism and had accepted Lakshmana joo as his preceptor of the Faith.

OCCULT POWERS

Though Swamiji was a master of occult powers, he never made a display of those powers. Swamiji was against their being used as he was convinced that the use of occult powers was an impediment on the spiritual path. He was the master of self-control and care. However he appeared to have made use of his divine power sparingly and with great caution. Not only his close disciples but also unacquainted people of different beliefs, from far and near, some of whom had not even met the Swami in person, were convinced of his powers which he might have used un-assumingly for their upliftment. Certain contemporary saints of the country have said that Swami Lakshmana Joo had been strictly guarding his earned treasure of powers and, if at all, he used those scarcely. His awe-inspiring sight and proverbial sympathy drew people of all walks of life near him with their problems to which he was often sharp in giving decisions. It was also observed that he gave a healing touch to those who needed it. Common people believed him to be a redeemer from evils. Some persons of pure heart felt a current of mysterious joy running through their body while receiving his touch on bowing at his lotus feet.

PICTURE OF PERSONALITY

Swamiji had disciplined himself into such unwinking vigilance that he was never found saying or doing a thing that was not in consonance with the Truth of his way of life. Only eight months before Swamiji chose to merge in the infinite, his chief disciple Brahmadadini Sharika Devi entered the Divine on Feb. 1, 1991. He did wonderfully well what was quite befitting to his nature and practice. In fact there was very high aiming in the core of Swamiji's very existence which was manifested in a happy combination of three elements:

- (i) Simplicity, an expression of simplicity;
- (ii) Enthusiasm, the vital push of the spirit within;
- (iii) Wisdom, the light of the soul as the portion of the Divine Himself.

Endowed with a magnetic personality, divine charm and wide scholarship behind his spiritual attainments Saivacarya Iswara Swarupa Sri Swami Lakshmana Joo was an inextricable combination of life and religion. By years of study and contemplation, his practice of yoga had ripened to such an extent that his teachings contain the best solution to the problems that face humanity today. His very presence was so close to the depressed, hope to the forlorn, joy to the seeker, inspiration to the scholar and satisfaction to the soul striving for spiritual upliftment. The best in him was all-lovingness that attracted towards him people of all faiths and of different creeds. An embodiment of magnificent qualities, he was a faithful friend, a benefactor brother, a fondling father, a true teacher, a noble neighbour, an instinctive instructor, an affirmed administrator, a congenial companion and above all the guiding guide of all who came near him. His disciples and admirers sought to throng around his radiant personality as honey-bees hover about a fragrant lotus in bloom. Iswara Swarupa's sagacity made him into an exemplary sage. He looked simply divine, when he made a short tour to United States in June-July, 1991.

HOMAGE

The playful ways of the Master - the sage of Ishabhar-came to an end on this earth in Delhi in the early hours of the 27th September, 1991 in moments of calmness and tranquility. He had verily been a yogabhrasta (fallen from yoga in previous birth) for he was born in a house of pious as well as wealthy and well-thought parents-sucinam srimatam gehe yogabhratobijayate. The present life of grace and glory was only the means for this Divine being to merge into Supreme Siva, the final beatitude of life. The powers of Truth and Light may not be visible to the naked eye but they are there for the discerning. To pay homage to the beloved 'Gurudeva' let us live for the Divine and let Divine take control of our life to fulfil his purpose.
